

Michael Bailey – President and CEO, American Health Partners

Michael Bailey has been a healthcare executive for more than 30 years. He was a founder of Windsor Health Group, an early innovator of Medicare Advantage plans that grew to be a national leader in the industry. He was also co-founder of MedSolutions, Inc. (now Evicore) and National Imaging Affiliates and president of VHP Community Care for Vanderbilt Medical Center. In 2016, Bailey was named CEO of American Health Partners. In 2017 under his leadership, the company created American Health Plans to own and manage Medicare Advantage Institutional Special Needs Plans called ISNPs in partnership with other nursing home owners. American Health Plans now has partnerships with thirty nursing home organizations across eleven states – and growing and is the largest provider owned ISNP platform in the country.

Jeff Bogle – Chief Financial Officer, American Health Partners

Jeff Bogle has nearly 30 years of experience in healthcare start-ups and financial management. He was founder and CEO of Ascira Partners and a founder and executive vice president of Surgis. Both companies operated ambulatory surgery centers. He also served as CFO of the Ambulatory Surgical Center Division of Symbion. Since 2016, Jeff has been Chief Financial Officer of American Health Partners where he is responsible for all financial aspects of the diversified post-acute health care provider with six divisions delivering the full continuum of health care for adults and seniors. This includes nursing homes, physical rehabilitation, pharmacy and it is a leader in developing specialized Medicare Advantage plans. Jeff's financial leadership has been instrumental in setting up American Health Partners for future growth and success.

Robin Bradley – Chief Operating Officer, American Health Partners

Robin Bradley has 20 years' experience managing health plans. She was VP of administration for Unity Physician Partners, as well as a VP of Windsor Health Group and Vanderbilt Health Plans. She also has held consultant, management and operational roles in healthcare organizations, including MedPartners, Inc. and Theraphysics, Inc. In 2016, She joined the leadership team at American Health Partners and was instrumental in the successful launch of American Health Plans and it's emergence as a leader in the provider-owned ISNP space. In 2021, she was among 19 distinguished long-term care leaders inducted into the McKnight's Women of Distinction Hall of Honor for her contributions to senior living and skilled nursing.

Greg Haynes – Vice President of Operations, American Health Communities (AHC)

With over 15 years of experience in long-term care, Greg's leadership plays a crucial role in overseeing the operations of our 29 skilled nursing facilities spanning Tennessee and Alabama. He is a graduate of Wichita State University where he earned a bachelor's degree in communication. He holds federal healthcare administrator licensure and is licensed in Kansas and Tennessee, and he is a member of the Tennessee Health Care Association (THCA) Board of Directors. Greg is dedicated to advancing the quality of care in long-term facilities and highlighting their essential role in local communities.

Sonya Pusser – Assistant Vice President of Clinical Operations, American Health Communities

Sonya Pusser, R.N., is a dedicated healthcare professional with nearly two decades of nursing experience. In her role as the Assistant Vice President of Clinical Operations, Sonya leads regulatory compliance surveys and crucial clinical programs, such as memory care, dialysis, respiratory, and wound care. She has been with American Health Communities (AHC) for over 12 years and has served in multiple roles, showcasing her expertise and commitment to the field. Sonya holds a nursing degree from Jackson State Community College and a bachelor's degree in public relations from Middle Tennessee State University, underscoring her versatility. Sonya's unwavering commitment to healthcare excellence and her wealth of front-line experience make her an invaluable asset to American Health Communities.

Candace Hooker – VP Finance, American Health Partners

Candace joined American Health Partners in 2016 as the Director of Finance and Accounting. Her streamlining of financial management processes and methodologies have greatly contributed to the company's success over the subsequent years. In 2021, Candace was promoted to Vice President of Finance. Candace has made many substantial contributions to the team, including playing a critical role in navigating the transition from an employee stock ownership structure to a subsidiary of the Mitchell Family Office and helping to strengthen our financial reporting and budget analytics to better position the company for growth. She holds both a bachelor's and a master's degree in accounting from the University of Tennessee.

Julie Cummings – Director of Planning and Analysis Finance, American Health Partners

Julie Cummings brings a wealth of financial expertise to American Health Partners in her role as Director of Financial Planning and Analysis. With a proven track record of 15 years in the industry, Julie excels in budgeting, forecasting, and cost control. In her current role, she manages the financial planning and analysis team and works closely with all business lines across the corporation. Julie plans and manages American Health Partners' budget process, as well as designing and managing specific projects' finances. Her leadership and talent for process optimization makes her an invaluable asset to the team. Julie earned a bachelor's degree in accounting at Texas Christian University and received her master's degree from the University of Dallas.

Jen Grimes – Senior Director, Revenue Integrity, American Health Partners

Jen Grimes has been a member of our Revenue Integrity team since 2019, becoming the Senior Director of Revenue Integrity in June of this year. Jen Grimes has been in the medical billing industry for 16 years, and her leadership and expertise has made outstanding contributions to American Health Partners' financial success. In her role, Jen conducts data analysis of claims and patient data, interprets trends, and identifies areas for improvement with operational steps for resolution. Her attention to detail and commitment to excellence makes her a valuable member of our team. Jen holds a bachelor's degree in psychology from Benedictine University.